Reducing costs, Protecting Jobs & Enabling Global Competition

THE PROBLEM

What to do when your customer increases his order by 300%?

Do you buy new equipment, work harder with what you've got or automate or risk losing the order to a cheaper competitor.

THE SOLUTION

Recently a customer of CPR's - the renowned automation specialists from Tamworth - chose to automate and added a robot loader to an existing single spindle lathe and at a stroke made a 95% labour saving, a 20% increase in quality and a 200% increase in output. Not surprisingly payback took well under a year and profits rose by over 300% - a result all round!

Commenting on the new automation the customer stated that the automation had transformed the production area, freeing up skilled operators for other tasks, increasing output and enabling the machine to run on its own at night and weekends enabling the company to compete effectively with overseas competitors from low cost Economies"
